HOW THINGS ARE GOING ON AT THE APPRAIS-ER'S STORES-MR. STEARNS WILL

NOT TALK. Three more Republicans were dismissed from the Appraiser's Stores yesterday, and it is not thought that the work of "reform" will cease until the last older of that persuasion in Laight-st. has been shown to the door. The list yesterday was headed by Assistant Appraiser David C. Sturges, who re-ceived this brief but pointed communication from the White House dated January 22:

You are hereby removed from the office of Asstant Appraiser of Merchandise in the District of ew-York in the State of New-York.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

There was no explanation given. Mr. Sturges said that he had heard it rumored, but never heard ofthat he was accused of favoring large imrters of Sumatra tobacco at the expense of sm orters. An anonymous letter had been received the Appraiser from a supposed importer, who al-red that he had been driven out of the business unjust discrimination against him by Mr. Sturges. The latter pronounced all allegations against his of-ficial integrity as pure lies, whether made by the Secretary or the Collector. Mr. Sturges was ap-pointed a clerk in the Appraiser's office in August, 1869. In December of the same year he was made Assistant Appraiser, the position he held up to yes-

tay. His salary was $3,000 a year. corge C. Hammill, examiner under Mr. Sturges, received a communication from Hugh S. Thompon, Acting Secretary of the Treasury, relieving him on his duties, no cause being assigned. Mr. Ham-till had been ten years in the Government service. chtning of "reform" also struck Meyer Meyers, the Fifth Division. D. Addington Knight was ometed to the vacant place left by Mr. Meyers, at a lary of $3 75 a day. Mr. Stearns, Acting Appraiser, not talk about the removals or give any alleged saions for them. He said he should "hold up" for skile. It is thought, however, that the official heads Assistant Appraisers Moore and Brown are marked ne, as well as a sugar examiner named Moore and some minor officials, though their fall may be delayed till Secretary Fairchild returns to the Cazenovia. It was said on good authority sterday that Mr. Stearns, being only Acting Apald not appoint or nominate any one ent in the Appraiser's office here, it being trary to law, which only grants the power to a ned Appraiser.

Ty L. Bardwell, one of the examiners in the department, who was dismissed on Tuesday, is a ablican, fifty-four years old, and has been in the ice a number of years. General A. P. Ketcham, who was the Appraiser at the time, appointed him in July, 1883, under the Emergency Act. After being in the service six mouths he was appointed wool exnor by Secretary Folger, and held that position time of his dismissal on Tuesday. Were there any charges preferred against you ?" he "Were there any charges preferred against you?" he as asked by a Tribune reporter yesterday.

"No charges," he answered. "The Appraiser gave to reasons for my diamissal. I told him that I dised a report in a newspaper that I had been disesed for incompetency. He answered that it was to. I had no further conversation with him. ore wool invoices have been advanced here than in seembined ports of Boston and Philadelphia. That invoices of wool that have been entered at a low to of duty have been advanced to the market value of classification of noils is the cause of all of the puble. The appraising of them is a matter of hion and judgment. My classifications have all yes been and are accepted by most of the wool imprers and many wool merchants, both in this city and fladelphia."

M'DERMOTT'S STORY OF HIS FATHER'S DEATH. The testimony on the trial of Peter McDermott, to is on trial before Judge Gildersleeve on the charge of hilling his father, was finished yesterday. Two sisters of the defendant testified that their father frequently fell and injured himself when he was intoxicated, and that he had lived on friendly terms

Peter McDermott, the defendant, then testified. He is intelligent in appearance and gave his testimony clearly. He said that he was a blacksmith, and had learned his trade from his father, and that they had always been on friendly terms. As to the events had always been on friendly terms. As to the events of June 6, the defendant testified:

My father had been drinking, and in the afternoon had become drunk. He was in the middle, or dark room, and I was seated in the rear room. There was a window between the rooms. I heard a rumbling sound in the other room, like a noise of feet scrambling over the foor. I saw father staggering two or three times and then he sell backward. I think he struck the stove. I judged by the noise that he was trying to get on his feet, and I saw his head appear above the window-sill, and he fell again. I leaned forward and saw him get to his feet and walk along by the mantel. There he fell forward and struck his head against something, either against the samb of the door or an a small tub which stood on the foor. I could not see whether he did or did not strike the tub. I went toward him, and when he did not rise I took some water and washed his face. I did not think at first that he had seriously injured himself, until some of the women came in.

On cross-examination McDermott said that he had been ence in prison, having pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted burglary.

The closing arguments of the counsel occupied the latter part of the day. Judge Gildersleeve will deliver the charge to the jury this morning.

HE SHOT HIMSELF TO AVOID ARREST. The man who shot Janitor Theodore Wehl in the car-penter shop at No. 185 Seventh-st. on Tuesday tried to kill himself 'yesterday because he feared arrest. The result was that he fell into the hands of the police after all. Wehl died in the Lodge and Associa-tion Hospital, in St. Mark's Piace, yesterday morning, having refused to tell who had shot him and declaring that the shooting was accidental. The man who shot him is Paul Ockas, a German eigarmaker, who is un-married and has boarded with his friend, Stuermer, at No. 400 East Eighty-second-st. Ockas had been drunk most of the time since Sunday. On Tuesday he bought a revolver, and as he was amusing himself by snapping hammer of the revolver, he accidentally shot

After Wehl had gone to the hospital, Ockas went to his room, in Eighty-second-st., and remained there. The reports in the newspapers yesterday morning rightened Ockas, as they informed him that Wehl was going to die, and he told Stuermer, who advised him to surrender himself to the police. Instead of following the advice, Ockas determined to kill himself. He went into a closet and shot himself in the breast. The bullet made a fiesh wound, but was not dangerous. The police arrested him and sent him to the prisen ward at Bellevue Hospital.

AN EXAMINING BOARD CRIPPLED.

The discharge of James Bergen, a clerk in Collector Magene's office, and the removal of Assistant Appraiser Daniel A. Moore a few days ago has made two vacancies on the Civil Service Examining Board. which consists of nine members. Mr. Moore was also chairman of the Board. Deputy Collector John A. Mason, secretary of the Board, is at his home sick with reonehitis, hence it is not believed that there will be my work done until Mr. Mason returns and the two accancies are filled.

A CORRECTION BY PRESIDENT BULL. President William L. Buil of the Stock Exchange restordsy denied the correctness of an interview with are which was published first on Monday morning and to which greater publicity was given on the following day. The correction was in these words:

In arder to correct any impression which may exist that I have used my official position to give weight to printers unimportant if uttered by me as an individual, I deem it only just to myself to make the following ex-

I deem it only just to myself to make the following explanation to my fellow-members:

My talk with the representative of Kiernan's News Agency was casual, the result of a chance meeting in the street. No intimation was given me that what I said would be published, and I did not in any way anticipate or consent to such action.

The language used is not my own, but that of the reporter, and he has, doubtless unintentionally, done me great injustice in representing me as anticipating disaster. Nothing can be further from my wishes or intentions than to create or add to feelings of distrust.

ACTION OF STOCK EXCHANGE GOVERNORS.

The Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange held a regular meeting yesterday. A small lot of securities was listed, but there was nothing done outside of routine business. The sub-committee on accurities announced a new ruling about signatures to assignments on certificates of stock. After to-day indorsements must be technically correct and, if the stock stands in the name of Richard Doe, the signature of Rich. Doe, R. Doe or Dick Doe will not be accepted. This action called stention to the fact that the Stock Exchange has been less careful about the assignment of stock certificates then banks about the tadorsement of chocks. It is said, however, that the fault has been with the railroad companies and that one company permitted transfers in causes where another rejected them. The new Stock Exchange rule will compet uniformity without regard to the sustems prevalent in railroad offices. ACTION OF STOCK EXCHANGE GOVERNORS.

It is possible that the rooms to be fitted for the judges for consultation may be arranged for a temporary session of the new court. SUING HIS FATHER'S SECOND WIFE. SHE THROWS HER HUSBAND'S WILL ON THE FLOOR IN COURT AND THEN APOLOGIZES-SENSITIVE ABOUT HER AGE.

Edward K. Cellins, whose father, of the same name, was the proprietor of the old Collins Line of European steamers and cied about eleven years ago, is seeking, in a suit brought to trial yesterday in the Supreme Court, to obtain possession of certain real estate which is in possession of Sarah J. Collins, the second wife of the dead man. The plaintiff, who sues as his father's executor, avers that the property was conveyed to the defendant by her husband through a third party without consideration, in pursuance of a declaration in writing that should he survive his wife the property should revert to him, and that if she survived, it should go to his heirs. This written agreement, it is alleged, was destroyed by her when her husband

This is denied by Mrs. Collins. She says there wa no such agreement, and that the property was pur-chased with her own money. The property in dis-pute is situated in Madison-ave. at One-hundred-andthirty-third-st., Seventy-eighth-st., and One-hundredand-thirty-fifth-st., and is valued at about $40,000.

The trial is going on before Justice O'Brien and a jury. Mrs. Collins on the witness-stand yesterday denied the allegations of the complaint. She said that she had had two husbands. The first was Ira rodd, from whom she was divorced.

"What was your father's name?" she was asked by John H. Drake, counsel for the plaintiff.

"None of your business," was the pert reply. Being told by the Judge that she must answer, she finally said that it was Herndon, and that after her divorce she assumed her maiden name. Her second husband, Mr. Collins, died on January 27, 1878. She married Mr. Collins in 1858. The marriage license was produced. She said she had sold some property enty-fifth-st, which belonged to her, and had given the money to Mr. Collins before she married him. she also had money in the bank at that time.

"Where was it deposited?" she was asked. "Oh, I wish that this thing could be stopped," she replied. She finally answered that it was deposited with a trust company. She was asked about her age.

"Oh, this is terrible," she said. "It would make Mr. Collins turn in his coffin if he know it." She Mr. Collins turn in his count it he know it— said she was sixty-three years old. The will of Mr. Collins was shown to her and she threw it on the floor. Then she apologized and answered the questions put to her in regard to the instrument. It was executed in 1867. She had no knowledge of any subsequent will bequeathing his property to his children.

The trial goes on to-day.

People passing the barber shop of Charles Welterer, at No. 4 Grand Circle, near the Eighth-ave, entrance to the Central Park, in November, 1887, smiled as they noticed in the window a cup bearing the name of "Sam" Davis, with the following legend beneath: "This man owes this shop for shaving $1.15 since 18%." Among those who passed was "Sam" Davis himself, who did not smile. He went to his lawyer and a suit was brought against Welterer for $2,000

It appeared on the trial, which took place yesterday in the City Court before Judge Nehrbas and a jury, that Davis, who is a barkeeper, had been frequently twitted by his friends about the matter and he owed the barber nothing, and brought testimony to show that the defendant posted bin. In this way to punish him for patronizing a rival establishment. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff of $100.

THEY ALL RISSED MCCARTHY IN COURT. The complaint in the suit of Sarah Langman for $10,000 damages against John Rinket for alleged breach of promise of marriage was dismissed by Judge Ehrlich, in the City Court, yesterday. This result was brought about by the efforts of the defendant's counsel, Congressman-elect John Henry McCarthy, who succeeded in showing by the plainting testimony that the defendant had never refused to marry her.

After the result was announced, the overjoyed friends of the plaintiff, both male and female, made embarrassing demonstrations of their delight by kissing Mr. McCarthy and the court officers in open court.

THEY THOUGHT 2 PER CENT WAS ENOUGH. By the will of Alfred G. Myers, who died in March, 1887, a life interest in $90,000 apiece was left to his two 1887, a life interest in $30,000 apiece was left to his two sisters. Loutse, who is confined in the lunatic saylum at Flatbush. L. I., and Matilda, a maiden lady of mature years. John A. Rutherford, of Myors, Rutherford & Co., who was a partner of the dead man, as managing executor of his estate, seft the sisters $1,450 as their income from the estate for one year. Surrogate Ransom yesterday confirmed the finding of Referce Edward F. Underhill that they were entitled to over $6,000 a year. Myers, Rutherford & Co., who have invested the principal, acknowledged before the referce that they had handled the money so as to earn an income of 6 per cent, and said they thought that Trust Company interest at the rate of 2 per cent was all that was due to the aistera. of 2 per cent was all that was due to the sisters.

PARK PLACE PROPERTY SOLD. The property at No. 17 Park Place, running through to No. 14 Murray-st., was sold yesterday at private sale at the real estate office of Fertinand Fish, No. 149 Broadway. The consideration was $105,000. Mr. Fish would not give the names of the owners of the property, or say who bought it. The sale was made in order to close an estate for investment by the heirs. Mr. Fish, who was attorney for the estate, also refused to say who was the broker that negotiated the transaction. The building, the dimensions of which are 25.6x150, is five stories high with a brownstone front. It has for tenants John A. Gilford, carriage materials, on the ground floor, and in the upper stories, J. Uilman & Son, importers and manufacturers of willowware.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKETS.

PEATURES OF NEW-YORK DEALINGS. There was considerable liquidation accomplished in wheat speculation yesterday, and the only apparent buying came from the covering of shorts. There were no new influences of importance at work and the slump resulted from the surrender of many of the "longs," whose margins had been exhausted in the contest made by them for a considerable time against the stagnant export trade, discouraging cable advices, and the absence of outside interest. Everypody appeared to be selling in response to the smash in values at the West, and there was scarcely a check to the downward movement, and that was caused by noon reports of freer engagements of wheat for export. The transactions increased to 12,000,000 bushels in the option line, and the net losses for the day were 2 1-8 for January at 93 5-8, losses for the day were 2.1-8 for January at 93 b-s, 2.3-8 for February at 941-8, 2.1-4 for March, at 95.1-2 and May at 98.1-4, and 2 cents for June at 98.1-2 cents. Perhaps the best evidence of the culmination of the liquidation is to be had in the fact that nearly all the trading was in the May option. After the formal close the traders "on the curb" continued vigorous hammering, and sales of May were at 97.1-2 cents—a net loss of 3-4 cent from the official close. There were no failures reported, and no suggestion of embarrassments, as there has been a pretty rigid insistance upon margins since the speculation has ruled so duit and unsettled. Spot wheat was off 222.1-2 cents and at the decline about 90,000 bushels were bought for shipment to Spain and Portugal. The speculative feeling was weak at the close, and afterward, but there was a more conservative view respecting the future of the New-York markets than was entertained with regard to the Cheago speculation.

Corn on the spot yielded only 1-4 cent, and shippers took nearly 140,000 bushels. The speculative dealings ran up to about 1,000,000 bushels, but the market showed a significant independence of the excitement and break in wheat. The opening dealings were at declines of 1-423-4 cent, but a rally followed later, and the market ended steady at net losses of only 1-8 cent at 43 for January, 433-8 for February, 313-8 for February, 315-8 for March, and 323-8 cents for May. Oats showed the same comparative indifference to the tumble in the leading cereal, and closed off 1-421-8 cent for the options, at 31 for January, 313-8 for February, 315-8 for March, and 323-8 cents for May. There were sales of 1,000 tierces of spot lard, part of the amount being for shipment. The options were unsettled god irregular, ending generally 228 points lower, at 87.35 for February and March, 87.36 for April, 87.37 for May, and 87.41 for June.

The receipts of grain and flour reported yesterday at 23-8 for February at 941-8, 21-4 for March, at ending generally 28'3 points lower, at $7.35 for February and March, $7.36 for April, $7.37 for May, and $7.41 for June.

The receipts of grain and flour reported yesterday at New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston were as follows: Wheat, 3,351 bushels; corn, 331,543 bushels; oats, $4.684 bushels; total grain, 429,578 bushels; flour, 19,540 packages. At Chicago, Milwaukes and St. Louis the arrivals were: Wheat, 46,832 bushels; corn, 271,216 bushels; oats, 101,005 bushels; total grain, 419,053 bushels; flour, 21,437 barrels.

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEWS FROM THE FIELD AND RANGE OF PRICES. There was a decided increase in activity in crude ertificates yesterday and prices were subject to spirited fluctuations. The result of the day's operations furnished no comfort to the bulls, as regards figures, and vindicated the wisdom of conservative operations After opening at about Tuesday's final figures at 86 1-2a86 5-8 cents a free selling movement carried the market down to 843-8 cents. A rallying tendency was developed as easily as the selling movement had been begun and quotations went up over I cent. Rumors then thickened of disagreements among the prominent producers who are now here to confer with representatives of the refining interests and a renewed attack on values carried them again to the lowest points of the day. There can be little doubt that the operations of the day effected some important changes in the disposition of speculative oil, but the relative carrying rates did not indicate that there had been any material increase of the short interest or any relief to that kind of holders who cannot afford to caply banking facilities. The tone of the market was fairly steady at the close.

Whatever informal conferences may have been held in New-York by the leading producers of oil at the West, the results are carefully guarded. There has been no formal conference yet. To-day the executive and the advisory committees of the Producer's Protective Association will meet to discuss the disposition of their reserve or "call" oil and if the outcome is satisfactory there will doubtless be a joint conference with representatives of the Standard Oil Company.

The range of prices and the total dealings were as follows: the market down to 84 3-8 cents. A rallying ten-

THE TRADE IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 23 (Special).—Wheat traders were demoralized at the opening by the erratic conduct of the Northwestern markets. Duluth opened 3 cents under the last price of Tuesday night; Minnospolis 4 cents under. Besides these disquicting figures from the Northwest, the cables brought a decline from Liverpool, and the Board of Trade cable made the lacresse on passage 1,620,000 bushels for the week, 500,000 bushels more than Beerbohm's figures on Tuesday. New-York was evidently in a beariah mood, for it at once crowded the wires with selling orders. Everybody with a Down East connection was a large mood, for it at once crowded the wires with selling orders. Everybody with a Down East connection was a large seller. The start was at 36% cents for May. At 36% cents for Mood, Sherman & Co. became large buyers, taking on certainly from that figure down to 37% upward of 1,000,000 bushels. J. J. Bryant, a broker, was en the same side and almost the same scale. The close was almost at the bottom, 96% cents for May, a drop of 2 cents from the opening and only a cent above the lowest point. The curb was a little better, 97 cents bid. The outside markets, like this, closed near the bottom. Corn kept within a range of seent, opening and closing at almost the same figures. Outs also kept within a narrow range. The hog receipts in the yards and generally in the West were under the expectations, but prices were nevertheless lower, especially for the big hogs. Cudahy was a free sciler of product, and there was no protection given to prices. May pork opened at $12.10 and closed at $12.378$12.40. May lard opened and closed at $6.679 kg bott ribs opened at $6.62% and closed at $6.679 kg bott.
